

Abstract

A new 6a-hydroxylated pterocarpan has been isolated from the roots of Tephrosia hildebrandtii and its structure established on the basis of its spectral data.