What Does Our Kenya Police Force Really Need?

KENYAN LEGAL

real Kenya, real Issues

also inside

- Abortion in Kenya; illegal or is it?
- The Doctrine Of Quantum Meruit In Employment
- Terrorism And Religious Tolerance

WHAT WOULD HON. NJOKI NDUNG’U DO?

Rise of sexual violence
Welcoming you to the fourth issue of The Kenyan Legal Magazine. I, on the Kenyan Legal Team’s behalf wish to express our appreciation for your continued support.

Kenya is largely a partriachial society and has long given justifications to sexual and gender based violence towards; it has always been the woman’s fault even when bestiality is the subject matter at hand. Even though its well known that a woman is her own enemy, on mention of such violence the first person that always comes to mind has always been The Hon. Lady Justice Njoki Ndung’u, the architect behind the Sexual Offences Bill, now Sexual Offences Act, 2006, introduced to parliament as a private member bill with an objective “to make provision about sexual offences, their definition, prevention and the protection of all persons from harm from unlawful sexual acts and for connected purposes”, so when we hear of cases like three men accused of raping a 16 year old school girl and dumping her body in a latrine were ordered to cut grass as punishment, we ask, "WHAT WOULD HON. NJOKI NDUNG’U DO?"

This issues, therefore as always, comes as an improvement from the previous issues for we believe, at Kenyan Legal, that engaging the coming generation of legal minds in governance and legal discussions affecting the country is what shall move this country forward.

Its Real Kenya, Real Issues. Enjoy your read.

 REGARDS,

 Michael

Michael Opondo O.
Managing Editor,
KENYAN LEGAL
CONTRIBUTORS

- Gabriel Pelu, J.K.U.A.T School of Law,
- Victor Kiamba, Advocate of the High Court,
- Victor Kaula, Moi School of Law
- Samuel Onyango, Riara School of Law
- Barbara Wambui, K.U.S.O.L
- Caren Kerubo, K.U.S.O.L
- Otieno Arnold O., K.U.S.O.L
- Michael Opondo O., K.U.S.O.L

Cover photo by:
Hon. Lady Justice Njoki Ndung’u,
Judge at The Supreme Court of Kenya
Courtesy of Kenya Law Reports
www.kenyalaw.org
Whilst every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information in this magazine, the authors, publisher and editor accepts no responsibility for any loss, financial or otherwise by any person using this publication.

Copyright © 2014 by Kenyan Legal

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, distributed, or transmitted in any form or by any means, including photocopying, recording, or other electronic or mechanical methods, without the prior written permission of the publisher, except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical reviews and certain other noncommercial uses permitted by copyright law. For permission requests, write to the publisher, addressed “Attention: Permissions Coordinator,” at the address mail@kenyanlegal.com or kenyanlegal@gmail.com

Copyright protected by: Creative Commons 2014

www.facebook.com/kenyanlegal

www.linkedin.com/kenyanlegal
Inside this Issue

Ask About Law .......................................................................................................................... 6
Africa Against Gayism, The West Against Polygamy; A Perfect Balance .......................... 10
The Doctrine Of Quantum Meruit In Employment .............................................................. 13
Need To Modernize The Kenyan Theft Law ........................................................................ 15
What Does Our Kenya Police Force Really Need? ............................................................. 17
Abortion In Kenya, Is It Legal Or Not? ................................................................................. 21
Prosecution Appeal Against The “Decision On Mr Ruto’s Request For Excusal From Continuous Presence At Trial” ....................................................................................... 24
Judiciary Watch ..................................................................................................................... 24
Carla’s Diaries ......................................................................................................................... 28
The Publication Team ............................................................................................................. 29
WHAT DOES OUR KENYA POLICE FORCE REALLY NEED?

Not one nor twice but time without number has the quest to ensure the championing of the implementation of police reforms in Kenya been an issue of enormous kernelty.

All has been done from the implementation of the new constitution through to the creation of independent police bodies running down to the ammendment of police reforms but none has brought ensconced and relief to Kenyans that may make them believe in the police force. The funniest part of it all is, what was jotted down under the police reforms has brought more harm to both the Kenyan citizens and the police body at large.

Rather than Kavilundi and Kimaiyo focusing on the ‘core’ they major on the ‘co’.

Back in high school Mr Wara my teacher of English at Maranda tried to distinguish the two. He intimated that ‘Core’ is used to implore the great importance of something or something important per se ‘Co’ he stated is used as to bring about the meaning peripheral or rather AOB.

Kimayo and Kavilundi have majored their focus on the supremacy battle rather than focusing on providing the leadership that would bring the slightest betterment of the police force.

But that aint of much importance to my reason for writing. I feel the police force is pasted dark due to the fact that since time in memorial or rather the epoch of it all, the police force has been used as a pit for those who have not done well in their academics. The police force has always been a better positive alternative for ‘academic misery’ before the public. It is also a belief that most police officers have failed to undertake the complete educational syllabus.

The police force is where people with self low esteem have crowded and that is why the moment you tease or rather direct abusive verbatim to a police officer there are higher chances that he /she could blow of your head. When you tell a police officer ‘wewe ni mjinga’, it hits him not in the head but at heart and he or she will act violently or rather aggressively because he is hurt by that fact.

Take a case where you intimate the same statement to a police officer with a master’s degree in any major course. Surely if he or she is a reasonable prudent individual he/she will take it upon him or herself to rather convince you, who is calling him stupid to be more stupid in a more amicable manner rather than violently.

I think in the quest to ensure the reduction of the police taking down citizens without conscience, their educational status should be key in one’s qualifications. Let us have the minimum requirement for one to join the police force to be a degree in any course not just any Tom Dick and Harry Jane inclusive who finds misery on his or her academic background.
THE PUBLICATION TEAM

The secretariat:

- Michael O. Opondo: Managing Editor.
- Sheila Mokaya: Assistant Editor.
- Patricia Ngare: Content Manager.
- Dennis Gicheru: Director Partnerships
- Anthony Mwangi: Co-Director Partnerships.
- Arnold Odiembo: Director Communications.
- Linda Wangui: Co-Director Communications.

Kenyan Legal Branch Directorate:

- Kenneth Kimathi: Kenyatta University (School of Law)
- Gabriel Pelu: J.K.U.A.T (School of Law)
- Hamida Abass: Strathmore University (School of Law)
- Samuel Onyango: Riara University (School of Law)
- Anita Simiyu: Kabarak University (School of Law)
- Victor Kaula: Moi University (School of Law)

This issue was Powered by:

To participate in the next issue, please send articles, with your personal details and picture to:

- kenyanlegal@gmail.com or
- mail@kenyanlegal.com

With Complements:
©Kenyan Legal 2014
All Rights Reserved.
www.kenyanlegal.com